Congo Questions – Our Nappy Doulas share their collective wisdom!

Congo Questions round #2

Thankyou for your interest in contributing to these fascinating and wonderful resources for mums interested in cloth nappies! These articles generate great content for the visitors and members of My Green Nappy, and yummy spider food. All articles you contribute to will sport 2 links back to your site, and best of all, are a platform for you to share your wisdom with our members and readers. After some I have a brief remark about the motivation of the question for me – always at a simple level, geared towards those new to cloth nappies. If in doubt, ONE tip, suggestion or strategy is the way to go! The article titles are not finalised; just an indication for now. I will ensure they relate to the question.

It is always a FREE opportunity for Nappy Doula's to be featured on My Green Nappy, all you have to do is contribute, either one line, or a short paragraph, depending on your time pressures right now. Simply respond as you wish, email to me with your shop name and url clearly visible for me and your first name of course.
